

Join the people behind Sky

Sky in 90 seconds

Have you ever thought about what makes Sky the UK and Ireland's leading entertainment and communications provider? Or about the thousands of people who each play their part behind the scenes to make that possible? Or how you could play your part in Sky's future growth?

At Sky, we don't only create game-changing entertainment which our customers love, we deliver it brilliantly too. From our expert sales teams, to our skilled engineers and not forgetting our dedicated customer advisors, we make sure all of our customers are as happy as can be. And because they're so important to us, we're always finding new ways to make them even happier.

Which is why our clever in-house tech teams are continuously developing and innovating our products, producing pioneering technology that changes the way we watch TV. All while improving every single experience that gives the people who choose Sky that little bit extra.

Today, we're a valued part of life across thousands of businesses and more than 11 million households, and our home communications business is growing all the time too. With thousands of hotspots and our super-fast fibre optic broadband, we want to make everything easier for our customers. Add in the hard work of our people who help brands advertise across all media channels, plus our analysis teams who make sense of all the complex data to give customers what they want.

Whatever we do, we make sure we're doing the right thing, as well as making a real contribution. But because we believe in better, we're always looking for talented, dedicated and passionate people to join us. So, just think of the opportunities there could be for you...

Believe in better